The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Old Folk and the Drivers' Test

Recently a 75 year old genleman walked into a branch office of California's Department of Motor Vehicles and voluntarily surrendered his drivers' license. Said he, "My eyesight is failing and I just don't think I should be driving a car any longer."

Many elderly drivers retire from the highways less deliberately. They quietly let their licenses lapse when renewal time comes around. Maybe a cancellation notice from the insurance company found its mark.

On the other hand many drivers feel like the 89 year old Ukiah lady who made headlines recently by going to court in defense of her driving privilege. She insisted her license was an indispensable piece of paper, notwithstanding an examiner's recommendation that she give it up.

It's true that many California motorists over 65 years old run into problems when renewing their driver's licenses. Not because the DMV's professional examiners are tougher on older people than on others but simply because the years take their toll of vision, of coordination, of ability to sort out the key elements of a critical moment in traffic. And because the California driver — old as well as young — honestly checks off his handicaps on the questionnaire he fills out at the DMV counter.

But older motorists aren't vanishing from California's highways. The proportion of the population aged 65 or over with valid drivers' licenses is actually rising. Having increased from 38 percent in 1948 to 43 percent in 1964, it is estimated as even higher today. At least 1,250,000 of California's 10,355,000 drivers are 60 years old or older. By 1975, there will be 1,700,000 drivers in this group.

Actually, well over half of California's residents from 65 to 70 years old — 59 percent — carry valid drivers' licenses. Forty-seven percent of Californians between 70 and 74 carry such licenses, 34 percent in the 75 to 79 bracket do. Not until we reach the 80 and over group does the ratio fall off sharply to 16 percent.

From time to time senior citizens complain that driver license examiners at this or that office go out of their way to discover elderly drivers' shortcomings or that they give them a gruff, tough time on the driving test. The department, of course, has no such cpoliy. Said DMV Director V. Orr recently:

"We strive for absolute fairness with older drivers as with all drivers. The same basic test is given every applicant. If the driver does well from the start, the test takes less time. On the other hand, if the applicant appears to have difficulty coordinating arms and legs, seems confused, or has trouble hearing or seeing, the test is extended. This allows the driver to recover from mistakes, sometimes caused by nervousness, and permits the examiner to confirm or reverse his first judgment."

Paul Haider, of 7216 Pearson st., Lemon Grove, who is manager in charge of drivers' licenses at the Chula Vista Department of Motor Vehicles testing facility said that his section examined 29 persons over 65 years of age during a recent week. His records show that 23 passed the written test the first time; 23 passed the vision test and the other six were referred to medical doctors and some, presumably, were able to pass the test later; 17 passed the drivers' test the first time and the test was waived on 12, making it 100 per cent for the elderly citizens.

On the day of our interview, however, Haider's record showed that seven people over 65 had taken the test so far that day. An all day rain was falling. Otherwise there might have been several more elderly applicants. Haider's records showed this:

Jim S. 78, passed.
Susan G. 67, failed written test for second time
Elizabeth N. 75, failed written test
Phil M. 68, vision faulty. Temporary license issued
Robert L. 75, failed drivers' test
Fred S. 73, passed
Jim R. 66, passed written and vision. Drivers' test waived.

"Applicants are permitted three examinations within a six month period. If a driver of advanced years says the examination given him was unfair, or that the examiner was biased, we give him another examination with another examiner," Haider said.

Drivers of retirement age may take comfort, if they can, from the fact that 23 out of every 100 motorists fail at least once during normal DMV testing maneuvers, and by no means all of these are senior citizens. Some are kids in their teens.

At the same time hundreds of drivers daily, in their seventies or even eighties, pass their tests with flying colors because they are alert and agile out of proportion to their years.

Consider these almost random examples related by the DMV:

Albert G., born in 1893 — the year America's first horseless carriage was road-tested — passed his driver examina-

Storm Total Tops 4 Inches

A 10-day storm, described as a "real soaker" brought more than twice the rainfall during the storm than fell during storm season to date last year.

For example, last year on this date, 1.85 inches had fallen.

So far, in this storm, which started November 19, 4.30 inches have fallen.

Rain season starts July 1 each year. The rain day starts and ends at 4 p.m. daily.

Totals for the storm:

|---|---|
| Nov. 19 | .46 |
| Nov. 20 | .30 |
| Nov. 21 | .86 |
| Nov. 22 | 1.71 |
| Nov. 23 | .21 |
| Nov. 26 | .66 |
| Nov. 27 | .07 |
| Nov. 28 | .02 |

Sprinkles brought .01 here in August and .02 in September. If it rained after that, until the present storm, it was not measurable.

Total for the past rain season was 17.10.

Five year average for the entire season is 14.24.

It has been reported that the prospects for a moist year look good — in spite of the present administration.

Grossmont Hospital Issue Misses by 1,322 Votes

The $8 million Grossmont hospital construction bond issue failed Tuesday at the East County polls.

Semi-officially the vote was 6,827 yes, and 5,459 no. Although the issue, by which a 300-bed wing would be built, captured a majority of the votes, 66 2/3 per cent plurality was needed. 55.6 per cent of those voting favored the issue. 8,149 votes were needed to pass it — 1,322 short.

An unusually light vote was cast — about 14 per cent of the eligible voters went to the polls. Blustery, damp weather, usually favoring opposition forces of bond elections, was said to have kept many voters from the polls.

The funds, had the election been successful, would have been used to build a ten story wing at Grossmont, more operating rooms, expanded emergency facilities, to acquire more X-ray, laboratory and dietary space and equipment.

The election was conducted at 97 precincts in the hospital district. The district encompasses an eastern section of San Diego and the Grossmont and Mountain Empire school districts.

Proponents of the issue said that the tax rate would not increase if voters approved. Actually, a new tax would replace a tax soon to expire.

Directors, the administration and the medical staff claim that the facility is presently overcrowded and the condition will grow more critical in the future as the area grows.

No alternative plans were indicated, but the hospital district board will discuss the matter Wednesday at the next board meeting.

A million dollar power plant was completed recently at the hospital. This would have served the needs of the enlarged hospital.

Three years would have been needed to design and build the new addition, according to hospital officials.

The votes will be canvassed Tuesday before an official total is given, Charles Sexton, registrar of voters said Wednesday.

Grossmont Band Trip Approved By Governors

The Grossmont Union High School District Governing Board, at its meeting on Monday, Nov. 20, approved a request from the Grossmont High School Blue and Gold Band for permission to travel to Miami, Florida, on Jan. 4-8, to participate in the Orange Bowl Festival Parade and to provide entertainment at the Pro Football Playoff Classic.

The invitation to the Blue and Gold Band was extended because of the Band's recent success in winning the second annual Walt Disney Music Competition. The Blue and Gold Band placed first in this competition in a field of 250 bands throughout the United States, Canada, and the Canal Zone.

Grossmont Trustees Keep Speaker Policy

Grossmont College Trustees completed two hours of discussion with a decision to keep the college's present policy on allowing controversial speakers on campus.

Rexford Hall, chairman of the board made the decision, after the board had been asked to prohibit the appearance on campus of certain groups, including Communists and Nazis. Other trustees had no comment on the decision, and the meeting was adjourned.

The present policy requires that a review committee check the suitability of certain speakers, and in the past two controversial speakers have been refused admittance to speak on the campus. The three-year old policy does not ban such speakers, though.

Heading the group which attacked the current policy of the college was Mrs. Ben Houston of La Mesa, who cited J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as saying he urged the ommission of Communist speakers from campuses.

She indicated that only a small minority of the students at the local college would agree with the decision of the trustees.

Mrs. Graham Enters Grossmont Hopital

Mrs. G. Ray Graham, who, along with her husband, edited and published the Lemon Grove Review from 1949 through 1952, entered Grossmont Hospital Monday night, suffering from pulmonary congestion and slight heart trouble.

Mrs. Graham will be staying in room 319.

Former Knight Aide Is Rotary Speaker

Mel Riddle, who was Gov. Knight's press secretary during his two terms in office, will be speaker Monday at the Lemon Grove Rotary Club's regular weekly meeting, according to John Penery, club president.

Riddle, who was more recently Assembly Minority Leader Bob Monoghan's assistant, is director of public affairs for Westgate Corp.

He will discuss, "I, the Lobbyist." He will explain how the title "lobbyist" has been misinterpreted and tell how independent business men can profitably use the lobbyist.

Riddle served with the American Forces radio network during WWII and thereafter. He served three years in Egypt, two in China, and six in Europe. In 1956 he represented the Republic of China in the United States in a "goodwill" capacity. He later was news director for a San Francisco TV station.

The Bowlero is on Broadway at State 94 in Lemon Grove. The meeting is at noon.

E. Richard Barnes To Speak Tuesday At Grove Assembly

Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes will be the featured guest speaker next Tuesday at the Christmas Dinner-meeting of the Lemon Grove Republican Assembly.

Members and guests will enjoy a delicious home-cooked dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the V.F.W. Hall on Imperial ave. Reservations for dinner must be made in advance by calling Mrs. Ron Larkin at 463-3339, or Mrs. Young at 469-3174.

Assemblyman Barnes, who recently returned from a trip around the world, will speak of his first-hand observations in many of the world's trouble spots.

Also, following the dinner, the lucky winner of the Amana Refrigerator-Freezer will be announced. A portion of the donations received for this prize has been ear-marked for the U.S.O., according to Ron Larkin, president of the group. The public is cordially invited to attend.

School Sells Land to L.L. For $14,430

The Lemon Grove school board Monday night sold 1¼ acres the excess property at Monterey Heights school for $14,430.

The offer to buy had been made by the Lemon Grove Little League and the district had advertised it for sale with bid openings being scheduled for Monday night.

There was no other bid and the board sold it for the advertised price.

The Little League, in its purchase, agreed to deed the property to the Boy Scouts should the League disband — a not very likely possibility.

The property may be used only for recreational purposes.

The board also was told that Max Goodwin, local publisher, would head up the 1968 over-ride election. Goodwin headed the same project in March 1963 when the issue successfully passed. The over-ride will be for a continuation of the same over-ride tax now being charged. The proceeds, some $200,000 a year, is used for operational expenses.

Grove Congregational Church To Present Top College Choir

The second annual concert by the A Capella Choir from California State College, Long Beach, is slated for tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the First Congregational Church of Lemon Grove. The church offers this event to the community for spiritual and cultural enrichment at this season, according to the Rev. Ernest M. Fowler, minister.

Fresh from an extended period of teaching and conducting at the University of Norway at Oslo will be Prof. Frank Pooler, who directs this outstanding choir. Under his baton, the singing group has received highest honors among colleges in Southern California. Clad in purple velvet robes, their offerings were received with great appreciation by the audiences which greeted them last year.

Chosen for choral quality, the numbers which will appear on Friday night's program will also include those with instrumental accompaniment and include items to appeal to the taste of every concert-goer. They range from the Renaissance to the modern. DiLassos, Gabrieli, Bach, and traditional carols represent the much-loved classics. Norwegian composers Knut Nystedt and Alfred Janson are represented with a choral number and a percussion, choir, and piano number, respectively. The program is rounded out with arrangements of beloved carols by composers, as well as Hall Johnson (Spiritual "Ain't Got Time To Die"); the Swedish carol "Children of The Heavenly Father" by Marie Pooler; "Noel" an English carol arranged by Kirk; "Infant Holy", a Polish carol arranged by Edmund Rubbra and "Why Did I Join Choir" by Bettis and Carpenter. Concluding number will feature the carol "While Stars Their Vigil Keep" by Morton Luvans.

No admission will be charged. An offering will defray costs of the concert and help to bring more fine artistic events to the community through the local church. According to the pastor, there will also be offered to the community an exhibit of the works of local artists in the narthex of the church in the near future.

Missionary Cantata Featured At Lemon Grove First Baptist

To give special emphasis to foreign missions and the need for funds for the Lottie Moon Foreign Missions Christmas Offering, the choir of the First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove will present a missionary cantata, "The Greatest Story Yet Untold", in the morning service, Sunday, at 10:50 a.m.

Written by Eugene L. Clark, the dramatic cantata describes the plan of God for world evangelization by songs, hymns and Scripture narration. The 25 voice choir will be directed by Robert Doggett. Mr. R. E. Kleinschmidt will be pianist, with Rev. Kleinschmidt, the church pastor, as narrator.

Each year at Christmas time, Southern Baptist churches take an offering in honor of Miss Lottie Moon, a missionary to China who died there on Christmas Eve, after sacrificing her own food for others. The Southern Baptist Convention goal this year is $15,000.000.

Mrs. Walter Crumpler, whose husband, until the time of his death last year, was active on the mission field in Mexico, and also in other South American countries, will be the honored guest. Mrs. Crumpler and children now reside in Imperial Beach.

Rev. Paul Box, a former missionary to Hong Kong, will be guest speaker in the evening service at 7 p.m. He will tell of his experiences there.

The public is invited to attend both services. The church is located at 2910 Main st.

a knowable God

Perhaps one of the most persistent beliefs about God is that there is a mystery about Him. The Bible, however, records many searchers who found God to be very knowable, very close. Job said: "acquaint now thyself with him . . . thereby good shall come unto thee."

You are invited to consider some of the steps to take in getting to know God better by attending a lecture by Georgina Tennant, C.S.B., of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Her lecture, entitled "Meeting Today's Challenge with Christian Science," will explore how acquainting one's self with God meets all his human needs and brings peace and satisfaction into his life. Admission is free and all are welcome.

Individual Events Strong Point Of Mt. Miguel Speech Competitors

Nine Mount Miguel high school speech students swept their school to fifth place in sweepstakes in a recent speech contest.

From the 500 students representing 27 participating schools, Diane Stubbs took third place in Women's Impromptu and Dave Ciccati and Raif Henry, fifth and seventh places in Men's Impromptu, respectively. Lois Townsend won a fifth place in Dramatic Interpretation, while Linda Schmidt took a first in Humorous Interpretation.

Thor Norlander, one of the school's foreign exchange students, took a second in Men's Original Oratory while teammate John Foot took fourth. Meliss Knight placed fourth in Women's Original Oratory. Denise Mailloux took a fourth in Oratorical Analysis.

Miguel speech mentor and president of the San Diego Speech League, W. R. Sander said, "I was very pleased with the results. This is a debate-oriented tournament that gives two points for every win in debate and we just don't have the personnel interested in this event." He added that Miguel students in individual events did an outstanding job in trying to make up the difference.

He concluded by noting that Miguel was second in the number of finalists to Oceanside, the sweepstakes winner.

"It looks like there will be five very strong speech teams in the area this year: Oceanside, Sweewater, Miguel, Hilltop, and Grossmont. It is gratifying to see more competitive schools entering the forensic area. Although it will be most difficult to win, the speech program will be greatly enhanced."

Two hundred and sixty student singers will present the annual Christmas program for the community from the Mount Miguel high school vocal music department on Dec. 9.

The 8 p.m. event in the school gymnasium will feature the Concert Choir, Girls' Glees, Men's Glee and Men's Ensemble in three numbers: "Do You Hear What I Hear?" "O Holy Night", and "Gloria in Excelsis."

The Concert Choir will offer "Carol of the Drum," "Twas the Night Before Christmas," and "Jingle Bell Travelogue." The Girls' Glees will sing "Carol of the Bells," and "Sleigh Ride."

The Men's Ensemble, which will leave Dec. 15 for Mazatlan on a goodwill concert tour, will perform "Go Tell It on the Mountains" and "Fruitcake."

Directed by Robert Boucher, the groups will be accompanied by Joe Kemp, Beverly Reynolds, and Megan Bascom. Admission is free.

Better School Group Reactivated in S.V.

The Committee to Keep Good Schools has been reactivated in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District and will direct a campaign for the Feb. 6 override election in the district.

Leroy W. Knutson, La Mesa attorney, has accepted appointment as the 1967-68 chairman, according to Hardy Kuykendall, president of the Board of Education.

Other officers are: Mrs. Sharleen Viau, secretary, and Dr. Dan Todd, treasurer. Remaining members of the executive committee and their assignments are: Mrs. Rae Powell, precinct organization; Victor Moore, finance; Mrs. Betty Jo Shiffler, speakers bureau; Mrs. Marianne Croy and Mrs. Marie Myking, area coordinators; Len Collis and Vince Toth, staff representative; Mrs. Lu-Gray Hill and Al Marshall, advisors; Hal Logan, public relations; Mrs. Alta Battram, endorsements. Others who attended the first meeting on Nov. 9 were: Mrs. Lucille Moore, Mrs. Jo Rose, Christian Krog, Edward Nielson, Glenn Murdock, and Dr. David Pascoe.

The Board of Education on Nov. 6 decided to ask the voters to approve the continuation of the existing maximum tax rate of $1.97 for a five-year period. Current authorization of this rate expires June 30 of next year.

Without approval by the voters the rate would revert to $1.35, with a resulting loss of more than three-quarters of a million dollars to the district. Such a reduction would, in turn, result in a curtailed educational program.

The Dimmer View

tion last July with a score of 85 (passing is 70). He was given a full four-year license, no strings attached.

Mrs. Adeline J. almost 78 years old, passed the written test on the first attempt, does not require corrective glasses and scored 88 on her driving test. She received a full-term license.

So did Miss Lillie G., born in 1882. Wearing her new glasses, she took the driving test and was issued an unrestricted (except for glasses) four-year license. The examiner considered her much more alert to traffic conditions than many younger drivers he had sat with.

Recently, with reluctance, DMV withdrew the license of Frank Ramirez, due to his failing eyesight. Mr. Ramirez checked in at the DMV office on his 100th birthday. His license had last been renewed when he was 96.

Some, of course, don't make the grade. Last July Mr. Gustav B., aged 78, took a driver test. Showing lack of coordination, he was told by the examiner that a hearing would be scheduled on the question of revocation of his license (this is due process in all cases of revocation). Twenty minutes later Mr. B. was dead — thrown from his car when he failed to stop for a red light at an intersection.

Actually, older drivers are involved in an average number of accidents. Keep in mind, of course, that their exposure — the number of miles they drive — is well below average. But age brings about one distinct change in their accident involvement. Only 55 percent of all California drivers involved in accidents are cited for traffic rule violations at the time of the accident. But when an accident involves drivers in the 61 through 70 age bracket, citations of such drivers rise to 69 percent. Drivers over 70 are cited in 70 percent of accidents in which they are involved.

The principal handicaps of older drivers are four: diminishing vision, hearing, reaction time, and "perception of complex traffic situations." In an ever-changing traffic pattern some older drivers are less able to discriminate between important and unimportant signals to their senses. As a result they are more likely to make errors of judgment which lead to accidents.

Notwithstanding that older motorists drive less, and compensate for their handicaps by greater caution, the accident involvement of drivers over 75 is almost as great as that of drivers under 20. Insurance companies know this. Their reluctance to renew the auto insurance of the elderly accounts, as much as anything, for older people giving up driving.

The conviction patterns of older and younger drivers differ. Drivers age 60 or older are percentage-wise less often convicted of speed, equipment and major violations, but more often convicted of right-of-way, turning, stopping and signaling violations. The difference results not only from the physical and psychological changes in the older driver but also from the fact that he does more neighborhood and downtown driving and spends less time on open highways and freeways.

If knowledge, rather than physical condition, is the older motorist's problem, his chances of passing a test at one of DMV's 146 offices can be enhanced by a refresher course. Many senior citizens' centers are said to be offering such courses and report that their "graduates" check in at local DMV testing centers with improved self-confidence.

While DMV officials must protect the public roads from those motorists who obviously shouldn't be on them, they don't use a big broom. Their option of issuing "restricted" licenses is liberally applied. Most common is the license which specifies that its holder shall drive only with prescription glasses, or shall not drive after dark, etc. More common than one might think is the license which limits an individual's driving to a specified route — say from his garage to the nearest shopping center and back, by a route, every turn and limit of which is spelled out. Last year 442,000 restricted licenses were issued. That's 16.6 percent of the year's total.

By increments, Father Time is creeping up on every motorist. ventually he climbs into the front seat beside him. When he speaks, his voice may be that of the drivers license examiner.

MAIL BAG

Dear Editor:

I'd like to announce to your readers the 25th wedding anniversary on December 10th of my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. McKinney.

In honor of the occasion, my brother, Peter S. McKinney and I will be holding an Open House in Fremont California where we now live.

We lived in Lemon Grove from 1949 to 1961 except for a short while we left due to my father's orders from the Navy.

They were active in the Monterey Heights PTA, Brownies, Mt. Miguel Music Parents and other such organizations.

My brother Peter is now in the Navy stationed at Treasure Island. I graduated from San Jose State in January, 1966 and am now teaching junior high school in Fremont.

Among the guests who will attend the Open House is Robert E. Bray, star of the "Lassie" television series, and his family. Bray is the father of my husband, Frank Bray. Robert Bray was also seen in "Stagecoach West" a few years ago.

Your paper has been a continuing pleasure for me and my parents. It is honestly the only way we can really know what's going on in what I consider my home town.

I visited there a week this summer and it was really exciting. Even with the growth of the community the town remains the same—great

Sincerely yours,
Karen McKinney Bray

Daniel Leedy Heads Judges

Judge Daniel L. Leedy has been elected president of the San Diego Municipal Court Judges Association, it was announced last week by Judge Earl Cantos, retiring president.

Other officers are Judge Wesley B. Buttermore, vice president; Judge Manuel L. Kugler, secretary, and Judge George Crawford, treasurer.

The MCJA membership includes judges of the San Diego, El Cajon, and North County Judicial Districts.

New officers will serve during the coming calendar year.

PRIZE WINNER: Mrs. Chet Smith of Central ave., Spring Valley, holds one of the watercolors which gained her first place in a recent women's club exhibit. Behind Mrs. Smith on the wall are other watercolor street scenes which she has completed. The local artist is scheduled to have a one-man show early next year, conducted by the Foothills Art Association, of which she is a member. She has been painting for over 20 years.

Valley Artist Just a Sunday Painter

Some artists paint for a living, while others just do it for the personal enjoyment which can be derived from the experience. Mrs. Chet Smith of Spring Valley is in the latter group of painters.

"I paint mostly for my own pleasure and satisfaction," stated Mrs. Smith, who resides at 3341 Central st. "I work at Trinity Presbyterian Church (Spring Valley), so I do most of my painting in my spare time."

Mrs. Smith is a member of the Foothills Art Association, which has its headquarters at the Ben Pollock Art Hall in La Mesa. Along with other Spring Valley and Lemon Grove residents, she keeps her foot in the art door through the local organization.

"I'm scheduled to have a one-man show at the Foothills Art Museum early next year," said Mrs. Smith.

Her most recent triumph in the art circles was first and second place awards in an art show conducted in conjunction with a meeting of the Southern District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs. She gained the two awards for watercolors.

"I tend to prefer watercolors over other types of paintings," explained Mrs. Smith. "Watercolors seem to be more alive to me than oils and others."

But the local artist doesn't restrict herself to watercolors, as she does do some work in the oils and also dabbles in mosaics and a little sculpturing.

"I got interested in sculpturing when I attended a class taught by Vincent Glinsky at New York University," added Mrs. Smith. "That was about ten years ago and I haven't been able to do much in this field since we've been in California. I hope to get back into it in future years."

Mrs. Smith's mosaics include an abstract scene and a mosaic top to her coffee table. But her main love is the watercolor technique and the street scene as the subject of her paintings. The street scenes dominate most of her work.

"That is the way it's always been with me," she explained. "I've always had a love for street scenes."

Mrs. Smith also does some painting along the line of religion. She has sent some of her paintings to the Trinity Presbyterian Southern California headquarters in Los Angeles.

"Most of my work I exhibit on a local basis," said the Valley artist. "I guest you could call me a Sunday painter."

There's no telling what she might turn out if she had the rest of the week to work.

Van Deerlin Knocks Calif. Loan Policy

PACIFIC GROVE — Governor Reagan's "puzzling" attitude toward a college loan program could bar or delay federal help for thousands of young Californians, a San Diego Congressman charges.

Addressing an audience of statewide junior college leaders, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, said low-interest loans insured by the U.S. Office of Education have been held up four weeks through inaction at Sacramento.

"For reasons I find puzzling, the Governor has not lifted a finger to keep this program going in our State," the Congressman said. "And when I tried to advise Mr Reagan about this problem three weeks ago, I couldn't get through the palace guard of gubernatorial advisers."

Under the program, the State Scholarship and Loan Commission over the past year and a half has guaranteed loans totalling $14,800,000 for 11,700 college students. Because the loans are guaranteed, recipients pay no interest while they are in school and only three per cent a year after they graduate.

Van Deerlin said the program hit a snag last month when the last of $1,480,000 in federal funds used to back the loans became obligated.

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

How is the singular past tense formed for "ar" verbs? The "ar" ending of the verb is removed and replaced with an accented "e" or an accented "o."

A case in point is demonstrated with the verb "hablar" (to speak). Remove the "ar" ending and replace it with an accented "e" and the results will be "hable" (I spoke). Take the same verb and replace the "ar" with an accented "o" and the results will be "hablo" which can mean "you spoke."

Consider changing the verb "comprar" to the singular past tense. Remove the "ar" ending and replace it with an accented "e" and the results will be "compre" (I bought). Now replace the "ar" with an accented "o" resulting in the word "compro" which can mean "you bought." See if you can change the verbs votar" (to vote) to the singular past tense form. Check yourself by referring to the last two phrases in today's lesson.

Take note that the English word "did" may be added to the English translation without having a related Spanish word when the verbs "compro" and "voto" appear as the first word in the question form.

Dial 276-2762 on your telephone where you may hear the recorded voice lead you in saying the following practice phrases.

PRACTICAL PHRASES

Say "Compro usted algo?" (kohm-PROH oo-STEHD ahl-goh) for "Did you buy something?"

Say "Si, compre una blusa." (SEE kohm-PREH oo-nah BLOO-sah) for "Yes, I bought a blouse."

Monarch Wrestlers Are Human, Must Stop to Rebuild Forces

How do you improve on a 17-0-1 record and three consecutive San Diego CIF wrestling championships?

According to Monte Vista grappling mentor, Bill Clauder, you don't, or maybe it would be better to say, he won't.

The Monarch wrestlers have been kingpins of the sport in San Diego in the last three years. Though this year's squad is far from weak, Coach Clauder has tabbed it as a rebuilding team and year, putting the Monarchs in danger of losing their coveted crown.

Coach Clauder, in his first year as head coach of the Monarch grapplers, will lead his squad into battle tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the season opener against Hilltop on the MV mats. They come right back the following night and square off against Lincoln in a 7 p.m. match.

According to the youthful Monte Vista mentor, this year's edition will be featured by youth and highlighted by a couple of boys who he thinks are possible CIF champions.

"Overall we will have an average wrestling team," assessed Clauder. "We do have a couple of boys who are outstanding and have a good shot at possible county titles in their weight divisions."

"This is definitely going to be a rebuliding year, but I'm looking for a better than average season," stated the optimistic Monarch coach.

"The boys told me to tell anyone who asked that this year's team was made up of a nice bunch of boys," explained Clauder. "But you know in a sport like wrestling the boys are psyched up and tough, and I doubt that they will be nice to anyone."

Gary Gilbert will be the first Monarch to take to the mats Friday night as he wrestles in the 95-pound division. According to Clauder, Gilbert has the upper hand among Monarchs vying for the spot on the varsity. He was a letterman on the junior varsity team last season.

A two-time CIF champion who has never lost a match in his two years at Monte Vista, junior Dan Kida returns to the 105-pound class to do his wrestling.

"Kida is one of the finest wrestlers to ever perform in San Diego county," stated Coach Clauder. "Of course, you can see that his record tells the story of how tough he is."

Among the boys who has improved the most for Coach Clauder, is his 112-pound entry, junior Brent Stoddard, who had an average season last year, but is coming on strong in the new season.

"One indication of how good this boy is going to be came when he beat Kida in a practice match the other day," said an impressed Clauder. "Nobody beats Kida."

The 127-pound class is unchallenged with Jerry Lyer set in that division. The junior varsity letterman is high on Clauder's list of fine wrestlers.

"Larry Millard is one of my nuggets," said Coach Clauder. "This boy is outstanding, in good condition and a hard worker. Look out for him."

That is how Clauder describes his boy in the 133-pound division.

YOU CAN'T WISH YOURSELF WELL

Many of us are half sick and half well nearly all the time, grunting along and wishing for health.

Our newspaper headlines tell us about a famous suicide. Reason — ill health.

One reason you do not read about, but which is found in practically every case of ill health is "disheartened confusion." The average sufferer had ben diagnosed, treated or operated, and steered from one specialist to another only to find out that as one ailment is patched up, trouble starts somewhere else. It is both confusing and disheartening when you have spent your money and time on differing opinios and differing drugs in a diligent effort to regain your health, yet nothing seems to help.

Life becomes miserable! Things lose their importance! You lose faith in all doctors! It is difficult to be a good wife, mother, father, husband, son, daughter, or grandparent when one is sick and miserable.

We can't get our message of hope through to all discouraged sick folks, but within a few there remains a small spark of courage that flames into action when they see or hear our message.

Does it give you courage to learn that a retired registered nurse, past sixty, after coming to College Grove Chiropractic Building recovered from headaches, indigestion, constipation, shoulder bursitis, and traces of arthritis that she had been suffering for years?

Perhaps the dramatic and grateful recovery of a slipped disc and sciatic leg pain experienced by a father in his late thirties, after coming to the College Grove Chiropractic Building, will encourage you.

Or, perhaps the rapid recovery of an infant brought in to us suffering fitfully from an acute food rash practically all over her body, or maybe the little six and seven year old brother and sister that recovered almost overnight from severe tonsilities and high temperature, or the equally complete recoverey of a nine year-old boy from frequent colds, fever, nervousness, asthma, headaches, and leg pains will excite you into action.

Many of such case records in our files are proof that sick people get well under chiropractic care—many times after other methods have failed.

Chiropractic may be your answer too. You can't wish yourself well. Why don't you take your friend's advice and investigate now? Delay makes any condition grow worse. Besides, what can you lose except bad health?

Outstanding Potential Highlights Monte Vista Basketball Hopes in Tough League

Coach Felix Rogers will have a much easier task of assembling a potent Monte Vista basketball team, as the Monarch mentor welcomes back four senior lettermen who saw plenty of action on last year's varsity.

Moving into his third year at the helm of the Monarch basketball machine, Coach Rogers will be out to improve on last year's record of 8-6 in a tough Grossmont League.

"It is hard to say at this point just how strong we will be," assessed Rogers. "We've only had two scrimmages so far this season, and from what I saw in those, we should be stronger than last year's team."

Most coaches would be satisfied with such an appraisal, but not Rogers.

"Sure we will be relatively stronger than last year, but so will all the other teams in the league," added Rogers. "This Grossmont league is really going to tighten up, with Mt. Miguel and Helix the top teams, of course. But all the other teams in the league are also progressing and it will be a more competitive league."

The Monarch coach will have a better chance to evaluate his team's relative strength Saturday evening, as the Monte Vista five runs up against County powerhouse, Lincoln, rated one of the top five prep hoop squads in the county. Others in the top five include Miguel, Helix, Morse, and Chula Vista.

Heading the list of returnees for the Monarchs are two guards and two forwards, who will also see action at the center position. The guards are Roger Landis and Gary Gregson, while the big men up front are Rick Cotton and Mike Ashbury.

Gregson, a 6-1 guard, is moving to the backcourt after playing most of last season at the forward slot. The letterman was moved to his new post after Rogers felt he had enough talent under the basket to use Gregson, a good ball-handler, out front.

Joining Gregson on the backcourt is Roger Landis, brother of former Monte Vista great, Paul Landis. Coach Rogers tabs Landis as an exceptional ballplayer, with a good outside shot. The senior letterman is 5-10.

"Both our guards will be playmakers," said Rogers. "We have an either guard offense, as we try to set up so everyone can get a shot at the hoop."

Cotton, 6-3, returns to the forward position, with Coach Rogers also indicating that he may see action in the center slot.

When Cotton isn't at center, Ashbury will be. The 6-5 front court man, a transfer from Crawford last year, missed the last 12 games of the season, after breaking his arm in the first Helix game last year.

Also slated for a lot of duty under the backboards are seniors Jim Wescott, at 6-6 the tallest man on the Monarch roster, and Larry Jones, a 6-1 jumper.

A junior varsity standout of a year ago, who is expected to see a lot of action for the Spring Valley quintet is Roger Sommers, a 6-1 junior forward. He was voted most outstanding on last year's junior varsity.

Filling out the roster for the Monarchs will be juniors Earney Arroyo, a 5-9 guard and Dan Smith, a 5-10 guard, and sophomores Jim Krattle, a 6-3 center, and guard Jim Bristol, 6-1.

"It's very unusual for us to carry two sophs on our team, but I'm sure these boys will be able to handle themselves out there," explained Rogers. "This has never been done since I have been at Monte Vista. We'll let them play with the J.V. for a couple of preseason games, but then I expect to move them right up to the varsity."

"I think we will be stronger and bigger this season, mainly because the boys have more experience," assessed Rogers. "This team at present compares favorably with last year's, but this team has the potential to perform. We'll be able to tell better after a few games."

The Monarch hoopsters opened play Tuesday against Mission Bay, and then meet Lincoln Saturday night in the Monte Vista gymnasium.

Beginners Bolster Program

Improving Monarch Girl Swimmers Gain Victories in District Competition

Highlighted by the best performance in three years, Monte Vista High's girl swimming team finished third place in the A division and captured the title in the B division during the Grossmont District League Swimming Finals last Thursday at the La Mesa Pool.

Coach Fred Wadsworth's A team tallied 50 points to trail winner Helix, 65, and runner-up Grossmont, 60, in the senior division competition. The Monarchs finished third in this division last year, but came much closer to the leaders this time around.

Meanwhile, the B team, usually the beginners in the sport, ran up an impressive total of 63 points to edge Grossmont, 59, and third place Helix, 40.

"It was a truly great performance for these kids on the B team," appraised Wadsworth. "We usually aren't very strong in this division, because we don't have much of a summer program to prepare the young girls. We usually have to start from scratch each season to make our B team, teaching the girls all of the beginning fundamentals."

"This was also a team with no individual stars," added Wadsworth. "Everything these girls achieved, they achieved as a team, with no real standouts."

Monte Vista streaked to victory in both divisions of the 200-meter relay, both teams winning by about four seconds over their Helix opponents. In the A division relay, Lukavsky, Greenlee, Papike and Mustol combined for the impressive victory. The A team time was 2:33.7, while the B's covered the distance in 2:56.5.

Lukavsky proved to be a triple winner for the Monarch senior team, as she captured first place in the one-meter diving competition and fifth place in the 50-meter backstroke.

Another big winner for the Monte Vista A team was Papike, who added a first place in the 50-meter butterfly and a fourth place in the 50-meter freestyle to her relay triumph.

Mustol captured a fifth in the 100-meter freestyle and also teamed up with Pam McCready, Sheila Sides and Kim Herr in the A 200-meter freestyle relay.

M'liss Greenlee took fifth place in the A 100-meter breaststroke for Monte Vista, while Jill Bradshaw added a second place finish in the diving competition to the A team total.

Debbie and Cindy Walters finished second and sixth, respectively, in the B 50-meter freestyle, with Carol Larabee capturing a third place finish in that event.

Marcia Reinhart finished fourth in the B 50-meter butda Lukavsky, Kim Herr, Sue Papike, and Peggy Mustol combined to win for the Monarchs. In the B division, Becky Burns, Onnie Shelly, Gilda Oakes, and Nancy Nerthling teamed up for the decitterfly, with Susan McMahon taking fifth in the B 100-meter freestyle. Nerthling copped a sixth in the 50-meter event.

The B team from Monte Vista captured three positions in the 50-meter backstroke, with Rozie Watkins leading the way with a second place, followed by Patti Larabee in fourth and Oakes tied for fifth.

MV came right back in the B 50-meter breaststroke to capture three posts, with Kim Herr winning the event and Shelly right behind in second place. Judy Elliott copped a fourth in the event for the local girls.

The Monarchs got the remainder of their points in B competition in the 200-meter freestyle relay, with McMahon, Burns, Walters and Pattie Larabee combining talents for the win.

The final competition for the girl swimmers this season will come in the form of the County Championships next Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the Naval Training Center's indoor pool.

Monte Vista Out-Distanced In Class AA Cross Country

Defending CIF champion Monte Vista came up short in their bid for another cross country title, as El Cajon streaked to the Class AA title with a low score of 44 points.

Point Loma finished second in the competition with a 69-point total, followed by the Monarchs who tallied 114 points for the third-place finish.

Dave Carter paced the Monte Vista bid, finishing fourth in the competition with a time of 10.21 on the La Jolla Country Day Course, which was in surprisingly good condition dispite the constant rains Wednesday.

El Cajon completely dominated the finals, with four runners completing the distance in the top ten. Heading the Brave attack, was the county's top distance runner Tom Davidson, who covered the course in the winning time of 10:15.

Right on the heels of Davidson was San Diego competitor John Jacobsen with a time of 10:17, followed by Steve Becker of Kearny who logged the same time as Carter from Monte Vista.

Sweetwater copped the Class A title, with San Dieguito and and Hilltop a close second and third.

Griffin Cagers Slate Opener Saturday Night

Grossmont College, bolstered by the return of all-conference forward Doug Boyd, 6-8, opens its 1967-68 basketball season Saturday night, playing host to the Naval Air Station at 8 p.m.

The Griffins, favored to win the Pacific Southwest Conference title, travel to San Marcos next week for the Palomar Invitational Tournament, which begins Wednesday and runs through Saturday.

Grossmont, also paced by the scoring and rebounding of forward John Ugrin, 6-5, will be out to improve on last year's record of 15-13.

Highlander Sports Banquet Wednesday

The annual Helix High School Fall Sports Banquet will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Helix Cafeteria.

The purpose of the banquet, sponsored by the Helix Athletic Department, is to honor outstanding athletes who have participated on the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman football and cross-country teams. The Helix High School coaching staff will present awards to selected athletes.

Tony Salmon, Helix High Commissioner of Athletics, is in charge of the banquet.

Matadors-Escondido Clash In Kiwanis Tourney Opener

Mt. Miguel, favored by coaches and tournament officials as the team to beat, begins its bid for the Kiwanis Tournament Unlimited Division Championship, Dec. 15, in an 8:30 p.m. game against Escondido in the Palomar College gym.

The opening games of the other two area high school teams show the strong Helix Highlander quintet testing Madison at 7 p.m. in the Grossmont College gym, and Monte Vista traveling to Mesa College to face Clairemont at 7 p.m.

There will be two major changes in this year's Kiwanis tournament, which runs through Dec. 19. First, there will be three divisions, instead of the normal two. The Classified division, which encompasses Fallbrook, San Marcos, Bonita Vista, and Vista, is the new addition. It joins the two 16-team divisions, Limited and Unlimited.

The second major change has the preliminary rounds of the event being played at junior college gymnasiums. Gyms to be utilized will be Mesa, Palomar, Southwestern, and Grossmont. San Diego State's C. E. Peterson gym will house the finals on Dec. 19.

A victory for the favored Matadors in the opening round would advance them into a second round clash with the winner of the Pt. Loma-Granite Hills tussle. From that point on, it will be rugged going for the locals of the large-school division, with Morse High expected to be the chief roadblock in front of the talented Miguel five.

As opening round victory for Helix, would place the Highlanders in a second-round tilt with the winner of the Crawford-Grossmont encounter. Back-to-back victories by both Mt. Miguel and Helix would throw the two local quintets into a semi-final round showdown at Grossmont College.

If Monte Vista can get by Clairemont in the Monarchs opener, they will advance to the second round to face the winner of the San Diego-Kearny battle.

Helen Goodall to Put Works On Display in La Mesa Center

Helen Goodall of Spring Valley, who spends a good many hours in her studio in Spanish Village, Balboa Park, will exhibit oils and water colors at the Ben Pollock Memorial Fine Arts Center, 8053 University ave., La Mesa, starting Saturday, Dec. 9, and continuing through Dec. 31. The gallery will open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. every Saturday and Sunday.

She began serious painting in 1946 when she and her husband Eldon began taking groups of artists by bus to various scenic outdoor locations in San Diego County and longer tours for 10 or 12 days to such places as Yosmite, Sequois, and Death Valley.

Various local artists served as teachers on these excursions and in 1949 several members of these mobile painting classes started the Foothills Art Association. Mrs. Goodall was one of the charter members and served as president in 1959-60 as well as holding many other offices in the Association. She was in charge of Foothills Youth Guild summer art classes for several years and also had children's classes in her own studio in Spring Valley.

Sharing the Dec. show with Mrs. Goodall is guest artist Mrs. M. E. Torrens of San Diego. Her art training was at Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, La Jolla Museum of Art and UCSD Extension, La Jolla. Last August at the 14th Annual Oceanside Art League Exhibit she won "Best in Show" award. The paintings she will exhibit will be in oil with a modern approach.

A tea honoring the artists will be held on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 10, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Monarch Administrator Gains S. Valley Kiwanis Presidency

Robert "Bob" Divine, vice principal of Monte Vista High School, was elected president of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, at the Nov. 22 breakfast-meeting of the club at Alfonso's Pizza Inn. Others elected for the 1968 term, were:

Paul Yee, first vice president; Glenn Darling, second vice president; Burt Hodge, secretary; and Hoyt Brown (reelected) treasurer.

Directors for the one-year term (expiration date, Dec. 31, 1968), Ronald Svalstad and Glenn White. For the two-year term (expiration date, Dec. 31, 1969), Ted Doughty, Roy Williams and James Martinez. The holdover directors (expiration date, Dec. 31, 1968), Don Scott and Paul Stevenson.

Dr. Tom Webster, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate, and Frank Berger, another past president, moved that the slate be given a unanimous vote.

The meeting was an inter-club session with the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club.

The guest speaker was the Rev. Jimmie Johnson, pastor of Skyline Methodist Church.

Rev. Johnson, who is active in youth work at his church and outside the church, talked on Thanksgiving and what it means to him.

He gave a brief history of this famous American day, saying it was conceived during Colonial days, but did not come into being until 100 years later, by proclamation of President Abraham Lincoln.

Rev. Johnson told about his early childhood on a farm and what he had learned, that to this day, makes him proud and thankful to be living in America. He said becoming a minister, was far from his expectations in those early days, as his church was very strict on many issues that he did not approve. But, he pointed out, finding his peace with God, changed all that.

He said in his home life he learned three important things, that many teenagers today have failed to grasp; respect, responsibility and religion. He pointed out that his father's respect for his mother made a deep impression on him, something that has stayed with him all his life.

Rev. Johnson said his religious training was enhanced by his mother, who continually prayed for him and the rest of the family, and on regular occasions, would read aloud from the Bible. He said that over 50 percent of the teenagers who go to his church, have parents who never attend church. He said he learned his faith from his parents, and wouldn't trade it for anything else in the world.

"The Horse's Mouth" to Begin Grossmont College Run Tonight

Grossmont College will present "The Horse's Mouth" as the fourth comedy in the fall Fine Film Series. The United Artists Technicolor release, starring Alec Guinness, Kay Walsh, and Renee Houston, will be screened tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall.

This film version of Joyce Cary's comic novel of the life and hard times of a British artist — a tramp, renegade, arch non-conformist and genius — has been made into what one critic called "far and away the maddest comedy of the year; but more than that, a masterly serio-comic rhapsody on art, culture, society, and genius." It is undoubtedly, one of the most penetrating and persuasive pictures of an artist ever made.

The story of "The Horse's Mouth" is the story of Gulley Jimpson, and his odd way of life, his wrangling, his loves, his hates, his prejudices, but most of all his paintings. Alec Guinness plays the part of the picturesque, brawling, dedicated artist as only he could conceive him. The setting is London. There is the London of early mists on the Thames; the London docks and great ships; the London of Bohemians; the London of crooks and prisons; The London of the Cockney and Bobbies who are reluctant to arrest their wayward charges; The London of museums, galleries, and exhibitions; the London of the working-man's pub; and the London of low characters in high places, and angels in the gutter.

The public is invited to see Alec Guinness at his zaniest in "The Horse's Mouth." The price of admission will be $.75 at the door.

"Road" fans will have the opportunity to see Crosby, Hope, and Lamour in action again when "The Road to Hong Kong" is screened next Thursday in the college's Fine Arts Lecture Hall.

Grossmont College is presenting a portfolio of works by ten contemporary American painters at a special showing which began in the college library foyer.

The portfolio of ten works comprise the most recent addition to the growing Art Acquisitions Collection of Grossmont College. Selected by the Art Acquisitions Committee and purchased with student body funds, the portfolio implements the already existing Art Acquisitions Collection that is maintained on permanent display in the college library.

The ten contemporary American artists whose work is included in the portfolio are Robert Motherwell, Larry Poons, George Ortman, Frank Stella, Ellsworth Kelly, Andy Warhol, Stuart Davis, Roy Lichtenstein, Robert Indiana, and Al Reinhardt.

The public is invited to view this special showing scheduled to run through December 8. Free of admission, the viewing hours are from 7:45 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday, 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday; 12 to 3 p.m., Saturday; and 1 to 4 p.m., Sunday.

Grossmont College has opened a Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition titled "Danish Children Illustrate Hans Christian Andersen" in the Student Center.

Danish children between the ages of 8 and 12 illustrate ten Hans Christian Andersen stories that are a part of their favorite curriculum. The stories illustrated will include such favorites as "The Little Match Girl," "The Tinder Box," "The Emperor's New Clothes," and "The Ugly Duckling." The children use bold colors and strong, sure outlines to depict their characters, often emphasizing one striking characteristic and eliminating secondary details.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Danish Embassy, is a project of the Danish Pedagogical Institute. The exhibition will remain on display at the college through December 15, with viewing hours from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The public is invited to view these unusual paintings. There is no admission charge.

Girl Scout Chatter

by Mary D. Giacinto

Brownie Troop No. 101 under the able guidance of Rosetta Woods and assistant Pat Canet have been very busy little girls. Each girl collected a sack of good reading books from home, neighbors, and friends, and brought them to the Naval Hospital for servicemen to enjoy.

The Red Cross, in a festive manner, accepted the donation with offerings of cookies and punch to the Brownie troop. The young ladies were so impressed that they are eager to participate in a project to collect still more books — this time for children.

The Red Cross expressed a need for children's books. If you have any in your home you'd like to give, please contact Mrs. Woods at 463-6654 and she will be glad to collect them.
